

Privacy

The Jordan Institute for Families at the School of Social Work is committed to preserving your privacy. We do not collect personal information such as name, address, telephone number, or email address unless you voluntarily submit it to us by mail, email, or telephone. This information is used for the purpose of responding to requests for information by the user.

For site administration functions, the Jordan Institute reviews information about visitors to the website in aggregate to help us diagnose problems, identify popular parts of our website, plan for improvements, and generally maintain the site. We determine which pages are visited, which hyperlinks are selected, how long visitors stay on a page, and the general geographic distribution of visitors to our website.

Once you leave the Rethinking Guardianship website to visit a link, our privacy policy is no longer in effect.

Accessibility

The Jordan Institute for Families makes every effort to ensure that the information available on our website is accessible to all. If you use adaptive equipment to access the Web and encounter problems when using our site, please let us know via our Contact Us form. Be sure to include a description of the problem and the URL of the page where you encountered the problem in your message.

The School of Social Work at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill hereby excludes liability for any claims, losses, demands, damages, fines or expenses of any kind whatsoever with regard to any information, content, or services provided at our website.

Links to other sites

Links to external, or third party websites, are provided solely for visitors' convenience. While we attempt to insure that links found at <http://ssw.unc.edu/rethinking/> are to reputable agencies and organizations, individuals who access such sites do so at their own risk. Any link from <http://ssw.unc.edu/rethinking/> to an external website does not imply or mean that <http://ssw.unc.edu/rethinking/> endorses or accepts any responsibility for the quality, safety, or the use of such website.

When visiting external websites, users should review those websites' privacy policies and other terms of use to learn more about what, why and how they collect and use any personally identifiable information.

Local Services

Services provided by the resources found in <http://ssw.unc.edu/rethinking/> may not be available to all residents of North Carolina or other states. Please check with the providers or programs to ensure that the services you seek are available to you.

The Jordan Institute for Families relies entirely on each website's representation of the services provided. Users should contact the organizations directly to ensure that the personnel or services they seek are available.

Websites are dynamic, and every effort is made to revisit sites and keep resources and link up-to-date. Please email us at the Contact Us page to notify us of any new services or features.
